Yellow warning
Thunderstorm

Between 12:00 Sun 18 Jun 2023 and
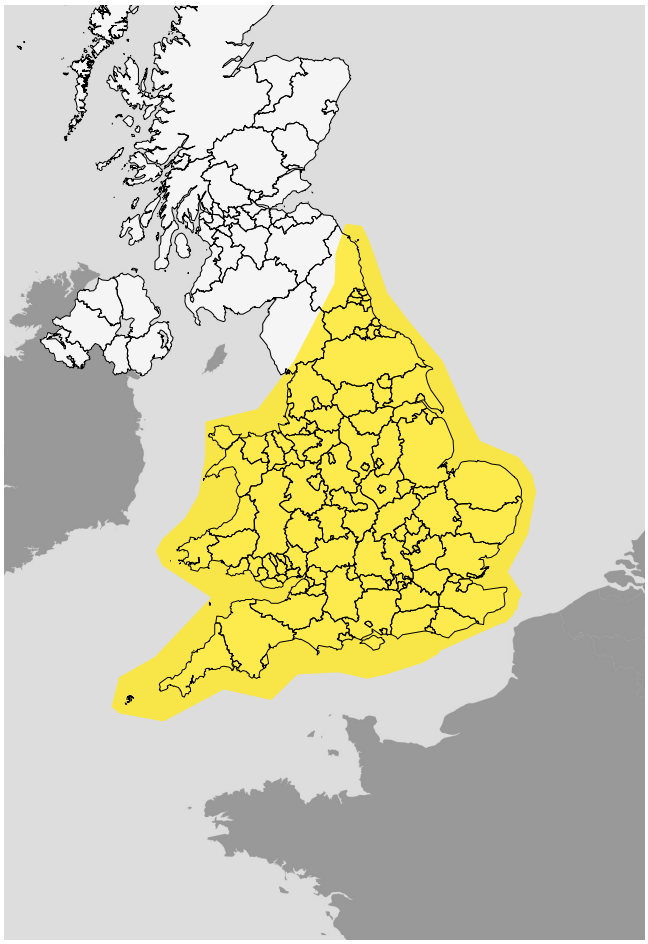
23:59 Sun 18 Jun 2023



Heavy rain and thunderstorms on Sunday will bring a chance of disruption to parts of England and Wales.

What to expect

- Spray and sudden flooding could lead to difficult driving conditions and possible road closures
- Flooding of homes and businesses could happen quickly, with damage to some buildings from floodwater, lightning strikes, hail or strong winds
- Fast flowing or deep floodwater is possible, perhaps temporarily cutting off one or two communities
- Where flooding or lightning strikes occur, there is a chance of delays and some cancellations to train and bus services
- Power cuts might occur and other services to some homes and businesses could be lost

Further details

A few outbreaks of thundery rain are possible overnight and during the morning, but the main likelihood of heavy showers and thunderstorms is during the afternoon and evening, with longer spells of thundery rain in places.

Some places may miss most (or all) of the rain, but others could see 30 mm in an hour or less, and perhaps a few spots seeing 60 to 80 mm within 3 to 6 hours. There is also the potential for frequent lightning, strong winds and hail.

Low likelihood of medium impacts

While uncertainties remain regarding the extent and focus, it is perhaps areas from London northwards across the Midlands, eastern England, east Wales and southern areas of northern England, that currently seem most likely to see disruption.

Reason for update

The likelihood of disruption has increased in some areas, as described in the Further Details section. The warning start time has been delayed until midday.
